

Android/iPhone Software Developer

ETS Corporation is seeking a mobile application developer to support its software development team. The successful applicant will work as a member of a team that supports various software development initiatives.

Responsibilities:

- Develop mobile applications for both iPhone and Android devices
- Write coherent, organized code and be comfortable working on a complicated code-base with high levels of abstraction
- Work with product management to help define functional specification for mobile application
- Required to document and manage technical requirements, design, architecture, features, specification, code and deployment of existing and new products
- Participates in strategy sessions and roadmap planning sessions
- Manages formal process for bug tracking and enhancement requests
- Responsible for providing ongoing support, bug fixes, and product enhancements
- Provide secure coding and ensure security it built into the SDLC

Skills Required/Desired:

- Experience working with XML, JSON, AJAX, JavaScript, and Web Services
- Extensive knowledge of Java and JavaScript
- Familiarity with the following: Linux, Apache, Oracle
- Strong OOP and software design abilities
- iPhone/Android SDK experience
- Python experience desirable
- Excellent teamwork skills, flexibility, and ability to handle multiple tasks
- HTML5/JavaScript/CSS3 knowledge a plus
- Objective C
- Xcode/interface builder
- Java
- Bscs

Education/Training/Certifications Required/Desired:

Requires a B.S. or M.S. in Computer Science or similar area

Contact:

Please submit your resume, salary requirements and cover letter to jobs@etsms.com